Letters to the Editor.

To the Editor of the " Doily Press." CANTON, 18th December, 1863. BIR. On the principle of "batter late tha never," I proceed to notice the remarks made by you on some portions of my preceeding letter. To your first note I would say, that the fact of one other enterprising individuals setting up a claim of proprietary right in the good will of the river traffic, is because no other enterprising individuals appeared to conduct the traffic during the absence of the Handow from her station. Even if they did, I have already remarked in my preceding letter that it is not the goal or imaginary. proprietary right, but the copabilities of the stenmers conducting the traffic are to decide the present contest. Is it not on record that the White the patronage and support of the Public powerful proprietary of Petreen and Express? If the Hankow was "ton grank "for the Yangtere. a good business on the Ningno line), then it follows that the Hankamul necessity must have been cumstance in itself a pledge of running two effective boats? But permit me to ask you have the limited Steam Packet Company pledged themselver to ren their eteamers without interruption? Have they a spars atcamer at command to fall upon in the event of break down or any other disaster happening to any one of their steamers?

To your second note I would roply, that neither the largenist nor the smallness of the steamers nor the rick of ranning them, was the point allegad by me; but their capabilities. The avil was quite as scandalons a year age when we first directed attention to it, and its mischieyour influence would have been prevented; had acting then been taken by the dilatory Chamber. In the eight months ending August last, thirtyseven of the English and Greek firms of Osleutta and one Hindoo firm; leaving out several of the leading importers who declined to supply information, suffered a lose of £238, 425 in selling 73 123 packages of cloth, of which 11,502, almost entirely grey goods, were damaged. Immened as this. lors is in so short a time, the moral evil is far greater. The native dealers of Mirrapore, Cawnpore. Delhi and Umritage no langer trust the English merchant's good faith. We expect the Manchester Chamber to not energetically on the representations of Calcutta and Bombay, Had the Bengal Chamber published the name of the firms in England who exported the damaged goods as sound cloth, the fraudulent manufacturers would have been pilloried, as they deserve .-

Baboo Ganendro Mohun has stready atained Indian and Rug'ich celebrity. He left his home a grown-up man, with a thorough sduention, one of the first men amongst Bengulees. He' returns to it still in the prime of life, having filled the honourable office of professor of Hludgo Law in the London University, and practised successfully as a Privy Council Advocate, eccupying the car of the Lords in a remarkable degree. It is undoubtedly a matter for congratulation that the highest positions in the country are no longer the archasive rights of the dominant race, A native co'league of the Ohief Justice, a native "learned friend " of the Advocate General, a native Covenanted Magistrate-these are conditions and destiples overleaping the wildest dreams of the Bengalee of the days even of the liberal and the bighminded Dentinck. The ramparts baving been fairly won and the flag triumphantly boisted, numerous and dashing heroes will soon follow their gallant leaders and cry death to the exclusionists. THE RATES OF POSTAGE TO INDIA .- Some of us probably are not aware (says the Pall still be unworthy of trust if he addicted himse Mall Gazette) that the present mail service with India in carried on at a less of 100,0001. per annum. Mr. F. Peel had a plan for covering the deficit, and at the same time securing precision in the despatch of mails, by adding four despatches in the course of the year, and so making the service atricily a weekly one. So far, well, But at the some time he proposed to raise the postage from tenpence to sixteen-pence, so that the four extra letters would cost about seven and sixpense apiece. O: course there was a tremendous commotion in the signal for immense exultation out there. But without going as far as the Indian press, and call. As stated by us a few days since, the line be tween Bombay and Kurraches has for several weeks worked better than it has done for many months previous, and from a letter from Mr. Walton, the Director of the 3rd Section, to the Bombay Government, dated October 27, it appears "that " the everage time occupied on the transmission " of messages between Kurrashee and Fac for " nearly one-third of the whole distance) continues to be under two hours.

As messages are now taking from ten to fifteen days in transmissions from London to Bombay, it: is evident that nearly all this time is occupied on the first two sections of line, or an average detention at each intermediate transmitting station of commodation then it has hitherto possessed, and about 24 hours.
